To the Gigantic Playground Hiring Team,

I'm happy to recommend Jeffery Ferguson — "Phoenix." Jeffery has been the technical hands behind my own work for some time now: building out my website and CRM funnel infrastructure, connecting my domains, setting up payment processing, and handling the practical technology side of two organizations I run — Dendora Oracle Collective and my coaching practice.

What I appreciate about working with him is that he doesn't need a fully-specified brief to get moving. I send him a working task list and he figures out the rest — funnel structure, domain routing, payment setup, the pieces that have to talk to each other correctly for a small organization's public-facing presence to actually work. He's responsive, he follows through, and he treats my project with the same care he'd bring to something much larger.

Beyond the working relationship, he's someone I trust and enjoy working with — reliable, good-humored, and genuinely invested in getting things right rather than just getting them done. I recommend him without hesitation.
